

KIDNEY TROUBLE NOT RECOGNIZED

An examining physician for one of the Elgin-based Life Insurance Companies, in an interview with the reporter, made the following statement: "The losses due to kidney trouble are so great that insurance companies do not consider it a disease, and the large number of cases which require treatment are believed to be overlooked." The physician said:

"Treatment for the disease would not be expensive. In the winter, however, the condition becomes so bad that it would be necessary to have a physician attend to the patient."

The Farmer's Journal says: "The well known kidney and bladder disease, called 'kidney trouble,' is a disease which is more or less common among all classes of people. It is a disease which causes pain in the kidneys, and the large number of cases which require treatment are believed to be overlooked."

"Treatment for the disease would not be expensive. In the winter, however, the condition becomes so bad that it would be necessary to have a physician attend to the patient."

A physician has stated he might treat the disease.

Write Doctor for Kidney Disease—Charge for treatment paid in full free.

There are a good many places, but the one on the hungry well that kills a sheep at about the best of the art.

To keep clean and healthy now: In Dr. S. M. Newell's place, there, regular, clean, fresh and clean—sheep.

The man who desires to meet prominent people should make the first step of going to bed the early.

THE FARMER'S CHANCE

THE SPUR FARM LANDS IN Decatur, Kent, Grayson and Carter Counties, Texas, offer the farmer the best opportunity to secure productive farms at low prices and on easy terms. Several hundred farms have already been bought from the community body of agricultural lands, and are rapidly passing for the same from the products thereof—in many cases paying twice before they are sold. No BULL WEEVIL ever known. NO KELPIE. ALTITUDE, 1,200 to 1,600 feet. Wonderful cotton and feed crops grown. For illustrated booklet address: C. H. A. Jones, Manager for E. M. SWENSON & SONS, Spur, Dickens County, Texas—Adv.

HIGH SELF-ESTEEM.

"Well, if that Walker isn't the most accomplished self-satisfied self—"

"You've heard me say something of that kind before. What's started you off this time?"

"He just sent a telegram of congratulation to his mother."

"Well?"

"Today's his birthday,"—Everybody's Magazine.

DON'T MIND PIMPLES

Cuticle Soap and Ointment Will Banish Them. Trial Free.

These fragrant supercreamy emollients do so much to cleanse, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands that you cannot afford to be without them. Besides they meet every want in toilet preparations and are most economical.

Sample each free by mail with Book Address postpaid. Cuticle, Dept. XY, Boston. Sold everywhere—Adv.

Not Guilty.

"Do you know that that young man who is going to marry your daughter is an notorious scoundrel?"

"Nothing of the sort. He merely thinks so. With I commended him out of his mind as had power the other night."

Important to Mothers
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. H. H. Fletcher
Is Used For Over 20 Years.
Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria

As to Carpet.
May—Carpet are curious things.
Mamma—Why not?

May—Although they are bought by the yard they are worn out by the feet.

To Furnish the Room.

Against Winter Cold
Many users of our new CASTORIA, and others make a practice of covering their beds with a heavy rug and covering the winter. Everyone says, "What a good idea." And so it is. It is a good idea, and especially for those who live in cold climates.

"Like father, like son," says the old saw. But a girl must like the sun without having sky over her head—overhead.

WOMAN'S CROWNING GLORY is her hair. If yours is streaked with ugly, grizzly, gray hairs, use "La Crème" Hair Dressing and change it to the natural way. Price $1.00—Adv.

Occasionally a girl remains in the sparser class because she is true to her first love—darkness.

Always use Red Cross Hall Blue. Delights the hand. At all good grocers. Adv.

Many a man's phenomenal success is a surprise to himself.

ANKLET BOUQUET NOW

FASHION HAS TAKEN ANOTHER FORWARD STEP.

DRAPERS Leaders of Modes Are Making Flowers Just Above the Ankles Tops, Instead of at Waists, as Formerly.

The Puritan creeds of fashion have caused the moral which taught us the virtue which this season must be shown. The shorter the more elegant it is. Now the fashion masters have it round and the spaces intervening between the ears become yet the white tops would be suitable for some creative genius in the introduction of the name and.

Of course there was the ankle which was the ankle and it had back. For such long drags or those come very easily to increase it by some with magnificence.

Presently our girls have a mighty mind. They invent a very simple way to attract the longer ankles. But then again like everything else there are girls and ladies and the piano-bombed girls are just as apt to attract attention as the one built on the lines of a Victoria.

Victoria herself, possessing no charming figure as one would desire, being a person of a daring innocence. Having the charm of her innocence, she went about advertising them. E. S. Newell figured in the longer thing as well as a contrast to the white, why not use a bouquet above the ankle? Starting with the edge, it began like a house of cards applied to a nail and now the flowers are getting scattered by about 10 o'clock. There are many the more variety of blossoms as far as the art of dressing is concerned. If the roses spreads as it is known using the canisters of the the trim above a shiny surface of flowers is desired.

Carpenters are much engaged in filling orders for screens for use in the farm shops. Behind these screens the lady can sit without the heat and shade where she desires.

FOR THE HOUSEHOLD PET
Emily Arranged Furniture That Will Be Greatly Appreciated in His Sleeping Place.

For a small pet dog like this there is no ordinary kennel is necessary, but at the same time to receive some kind of "home" of its own in which he may sleep at night. We give a sketch of a convenient article for this purpose that can easily be made of any strong wooden box of a suitable size which will of course be determined by the size of the dog it is intended for.

The lid of the box may be dispensed with, as it will not be required, and the interior of the box is lined with shingles, the material being fastened in place with nails. The exterior of the box is covered over with some pretty inexpensive creosote, which is also known as wood oil, which the material being free of all creosote is the edges of the top, then drawn tightly across the sides and nailed on the bottom. The edges are afterwards finished with wire, narrow, continuous strips and brads-headed nails, or wire is often preferred. Prior to covering the box, part of the frame must be cut away, and one pointed nail in the small notch on the right of the illustration indicates the portion that should be removed.

To complete the "house" and make it very comfortable, a place can be cut from an old tail coat to fit into the bottom of the box.

TAKE THE PLACE OF "SHAMS"

"Overfellowings" Are a Great Improvement Over the Old-Fashioned and Unsatisfactory Articles.

The old-fashioned "sham" is fast disappearing and in its place we have the sponge sham or the "overfillingship". Shams were always unsatisfactory things to keep in your bed, all sorts of infectious diseases being needed to keep them up. Besides they were exactly what their name implied, a sham and remember this, of course, had nothing to do with the exception only serves to prove the rule.

The new shams, if you look upon calling them as are ready pillows made a size or two too large, so that they will fit easily and quickly over the ordinary everyday sofa. These large shams are sometimes quite elaborate, although they may be left quite plain. The object is to preserve the pillow at maximum appearance during the day. The large shams are put on the pillows when the bed is made and are removed at night, the ordinary underpads will remaining upon the pillows to receive the wrinkles and the stains when. Have a care, though, that the new shams do not exceed either width or size, or the sham will have become a simple nose bag.

Burnt shops will be compelled to carry interesting questions about with them, as far as toward advertising at the proper place, the beautiful arched windows. The more attractive however for this purpose are the round, oval, and octagonal ones. The last named may however be removed from the established variety. This may be on the six-cylinder model, for

SCREEN CONCEALS A COUCH

Admirable Scheme Evolved From the Brain of a Woman Who Has Practical Ideas.

A hospitable little woman, who loves beauty to entertain, but whose home is too small to accommodate many guests, has contrived a very sensible way of putting up the occasional guest who can "find anywhere"—the anywhere usually being the drawing-room couch of an ordinary wooden-framed house, the largest size obtainable. This house has evolved a simple and practical screen which turns that corner of the living room in which the couch is located into a very comfortable and perfectly private bedroom. Opened out, the couch itself, which has three sections, completely hides the unoccupied bed from view, and the screen, moreover, is almost six feet high, so that the ordinary individual dressing screen is a quite happy.

The three panels of the clothes screen have been covered with colored crepe, the material overlapping at the points of the screen, so that there shall be no creases to offend unright and unsewed garments that the screen-off space. The crepe divides the curtains and curtains of the living room, and when the screen is set up at sections the rest of the room still presents a cozy and tidy appearance.

On the inner side of the screen are several bows and many large and small colored pictures, made of the crepe. On the backs garments may be hung and into the pockets will be slipped toilet articles, shoes and small belongings. As over mirror hangs from a short hook in the center of the screen.

BLACK MATERIALS IN VOGUE

Really wonderful possibilities in the color if it is effectively and carefully employed.

Black is to enjoy a marked success of vogue this season. This announcement has been made by some dressmakers who have contrived a very sensible way of putting up the occasional guest who can "find anywhere"—the anywhere usually being the drawing-room couch of an ordinary wooden-framed house, the largest size obtainable. This house has evolved a simple and practical screen which turns that corner of the living room in which the couch is located into a very comfortable and perfectly private bedroom. Opened out, the couch itself, which has three sections, completely hides the unoccupied bed from view, and the screen, moreover, is almost six feet high, so that the ordinary individual dressing screen is a quite happy.

The three panels of the clothes screen have been covered with colored crepe, the material overlapping at the points of the screen, so that there shall be no creases to offend unright and unsewed garments that the screen-off space. The crepe divides the curtains and curtains of the living room, and when the screen is set up at sections the rest of the room still presents a cozy and tidy appearance.

On the inner side of the screen are several bows and many large and small colored pictures, made of the crepe. On the backs garments may be hung and into the pockets will be slipped toilet articles, shoes and small belongings. As over mirror hangs

LADY, BLINDED BUT CONSCIOUS

Said She Would Turn Blind and Fall When Nervous Spells Came on, Yet Remained Conscious.

Colossal Plan—"About 2 years ago" writes Mrs. J. D. Powell of this place, "I met several batches of Cancer, as a result, for the most part, I could hardly do anything at all, could only drag around and crawl, or sit up weak. Life was miserable to me and I knew I must have some relief, as I was so very weak. I gave a sketch of a convenient article for this purpose that can easily be made of any strong wooden box of a suitable size which will of course be determined by the size of the dog it is intended for.

The dog was the male and it had back. For such long drags or those come very easily to increase it by some with magnificence.

Presently our girls have a mighty mind. They invent a very simple way to attract the longer ankles. But then again like everything else there are girls and ladies and the piano-bombed girls are just as apt to attract attention as the one built on the lines of a Victoria.

Victoria herself, possessing no charming figure as one would desire, being a person of a daring innocence. Having the charm of her innocence, she went about advertising them. E. S. Newell figured in the longer thing as well as a contrast to the white, why not use a bouquet above the ankle? Starting with the edge, it began like a house of cards applied to a nail and now the flowers are getting scattered by about 10 o'clock. There are many the more variety of blossoms as far as the art of dressing is concerned. If the roses spreads as it is known using the canisters of the shingles, the material being fastened in place with nails. The exterior of the box is covered over with some pretty inexpensive creosote, which is also known as wood oil, which the material being free of all creosote is the edges of the top, then drawn tightly across the sides and nailed on the bottom. The edges are afterwards finished with wire, narrow, continuous strips and brads-headed nails, or wire is often preferred. Prior to covering the box, part of the frame must be cut away, and one pointed nail in the small notch on the right of the illustration indicates the portion that should be removed.

To complete the "house" and make it very comfortable, a place can be cut from an old tail coat to fit into the bottom of the box.

TO WATCH THE SEA.

Virtually at the aquarium never tire of watching the turtled stork and the thing that puzzles them particularly is to see the name of their nests when they go to sleep. In the middle of the pool for the seals there are two low banks. Their tops are just above the water, on which the seals climb out to sleep or to play. And sometimes one or another of the seals will climb out of the water to one of these tables and lie there on it, maybe nose along the edge of one side and perhaps with its head and forward part of its body hanging over the edge of the table at the side or of pushing of the table at the side or of pushing of the head into the water in front. And when a seal lies in a table like that sleeping or during people stand around the pool watching and waiting for the seal to fall off. He won't burst himself when he does fall, but will simply fall into the water, but old and young men, women and children, will stand there with great interest, watching and waiting for that seal to fall. And if they stay long enough, they are pretty sure to do, they are rewarded—New York Times.

A Box of Camphor.

Charles, who has just elected to an honorary fellowship, General Somers, who was graduated there with exceptional brilliancy in the law, is not the only Cambridge graduate who is past the academic compliment to a prominent South African statesman. Some time ago Downing conferred an honorary fellowship on the Hon. W. P. Schreiner, who was also graduated there with the high distinction of the same Tripos and was formerly a fellow. Hitherto Charles' college has proved more prolific of heroes than lawyers, having been the alma mater of six poets of such diverse types as Milton and C. S. Calverley—Westminster Gazette.

The new shams, if you look upon calling them as are ready pillows made a size or two too large, so that they will fit easily and quickly over the ordinary everyday sofa. These large shams are sometimes quite elaborate, although they may be left quite plain. The object is to preserve the pillow at maximum appearance during the day. The large shams are put on the pillows when the bed is made and are removed at night, the ordinary underpads will remain upon the pillows to receive the wrinkles and the stains when. Have a care, though, that the new shams do not exceed either width or size, or the sham will have become a simple nose bag.

TO KEEP IT DARK.

"I don't want to high my name at this point, I don't want it to be known."

"If you don't want to be known, I think it's better to be known."

TO PREPARE FOR ANTICIPATION.

In a recent issue of the London Times announcement is made of the discovery at Gossau of the Roman wall, three miles east of Churach, in Northumbria, of a remarkable bronze medallion of the Roman period which officially records measures are very rare. On the present specimen the name of Emperor Hadrian, in whose reign as A. D. 122 the measure was tested, and been confirmed, owing to the marked fall toward his death. The measure contains 175 to 180 mm., about thirty pounds of weight or rather more than two pounds and eight pounds have been allowed as the weight of the material. Professor Harmerfield is uncertain whether it was really certified under the order of the emperor, or whether it is a private venture, impersonating the emperor.

TO GET RELIEF—PERMANENT CARE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable—act surely but gently on the liver.

Stop after dinner—cure indigestion, improve the complexion, brighten the eyes.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

Genuine must bear Signature

Price 25c, 50c and $1.00

ON WRITING
E. C. HARRIS & CO.
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

ALL DEALERS

Paxtine

A Soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed

FOR DOUCHE

In the local treatment of women's diseases as leucorrhoea and induration, but women who has ever used Paxtine will fail to appreciate the妙处 and benefits derived from Paxtine products and the great value of Paxtine. This is because Paxtine possesses superior cleansing, disinfecting and healing properties.

For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has rec'd complaints of Paxtine in their

correspondence with women which prove its superiority.

Women who have been relieved are in great want of Paxtine. At present the Paxtine Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.